This Statutory Corporate Governance Report covers the period 1 January 2013 to 31 December 2013 and is prepared pursuant to art. 107b of the Danish Financial Statements Act, and is an element of the management review as included in the annual report for 2013. Appendix 1 is not part of the auditor's reports in the Annual Report.

1. Corporate Governance recommendations and practices

As a global company listed on the stock exchange in Copenhagen, Lundbeck is subject to the Danish Corporate Governance Recommendations designed by NASDAQ OMX Copenhagen (www.corporategovernance.dk).

In 2013, Lundbeck had a strong focus on the revised recommendations introduced in May 2013 by the Danish Committee on Corporate Governance. The Board of Directors and Executive Management share the committee's views and generally follow the new recommendations. A detailed report of Lundbeck's compliance with and deviations from the Danish Corporate Governance Recommendations can be found in Appendix 1.

2. Risk management

The principal aim of Lundbeck's risk management is to strike the right balance between risk exposure and value generation. Our risk management processes are constantly updated and adapted to match internal and external requirements. This gives our Corporate Management Group an accurate overview of current activities and resources, and a clear basis for decision-making on Lundbeck's overall risk exposure.

Although Lundbeck's risk management team reports to a central Risk Office, we believe that risks are best managed by decentralized units, which are coordinated and monitored from the centre. These units have extensive knowledge of the risks we face. They systematically monitor, identify, quantify and respond to risks, and they are best placed to mitigate our exposure in the first instance.

Lundbeck assesses the probability of an event occurring and the potential impact for the company in terms of financial loss or reputational damage. Risk evaluations carried out by our decentralized units are regularly reviewed by the risk management team through clearly-defined reporting, decision-making and follow-up procedures. The overall risk exposure is then evaluated by our central Risk Office.

Risk reporting and assessment

Risk reporting is an integral part of Lundbeck's overall reporting process. Our risk register gives a consolidated picture of our risk exposure by detailing each risk, risk category and type. The risk descriptions describe the event, its current status, the status of the response, an assessment of probability and potential impact, and the name of the person responsible for managing the risk. We have identified six categories of risk and define them into three risk types being 'external', 'actionable' or 'strategic'. Using this information, the Risk Office assesses the overall risk exposure and reviews it with the Corporate Management Group. In addition, risks and risk exposure are presented to and reviewed by our Audit Committee.

Research and Development

R&D in Lundbeck is focused on developing innovative pharmaceuticals. However, there are risks involved in launching new pharmaceuticals and treatments for known diseases. During the R&D process, there is a risk that new products will be delayed or do not materialize. In each of our late-stage projects, we consider whether starting new clinical studies or giving additional support in ongoing studies could lead to more successful outcomes.

Market Conditions

The pharmaceutical market, especially in Europe, has been and will most likely continue to be characterized by attempts by authorities to cap or reduce increasing healthcare costs. These cost containment measures are structured in several ways, such as regulation of prices or reimbursement, or by requirements to demonstrate added value in comparison to existing products. In recent years, we have seen patents and data exclusivity on established products running out, while at the same time, we are launching several new products. Successfully balancing efforts to get the most out of our established business while getting market access for new products are key challenges for Lundbeck during this transition. We are working with healthcare authorities around the world to document the value of our pharmaceuticals, through health-economic assessments and other initiatives. And we are continually looking for ways to adapt to changing market conditions.

Infrastructure

It is crucial for patients to always have access to the pharmaceuticals they require. As a pharmaceutical manufacturer, we therefore need to ensure reliability of supply. We monitor supply carefully and maintain an inventory so we can respond to any interruption in production. To reduce production risks, we have production and packaging facilities at six independent sites: Lumsås and Valby, Denmark, Tainjin, China, Nice, France, Padova, Italy, and Mexico City, Mexico. Having a number of alternative facilities increases our production flexibility.

In rare cases, pharmaceutical companies are forced to recall a product from the market due to safety or quality issues. At Lundbeck, we have systems and procedures in place to ensure a swift and effective response should such a situation arise. Part of our strategy is to engage in beneficial partnerships, which means we are not always in full control of individual projects and products. However, we maintain a close and open dialogue with our partners to minimize risks.

As a knowledge-based company, Lundbeck's success depends on having the right employees with the right competencies. We seek to motivate, engage and retain our employees through competitive remuneration and employee benefits, as well as through individual recognition and development opportunities.

It is also crucial that we are able to protect the knowledge that underpins our success. We have increased our focus on information security to protect our intellectual property rights and to avoid infringing third party rights. We have developed secure internal information systems and procedures to ensure smooth and safe flow of information around our global network.

Reputation

As a leading pharmaceutical company, we know that coverage of new clinical studies in publications, or even letters to editors, can influence the perception of products and manufacturers. To build confidence and trust in our capabilities, we make a substantial investment in creating factual and scientific information resources for the benefit of healthcare professionals and patients.

Strong corporate governance is an essential part of the way we run our business and is also integral to protecting our reputation. We have the right systems in place to ensure proactive risk management, and we deliver fast and accurate reports on the risk profile of marketed products, as well as on operational, tactical and strategic financial planning.

Our Code of Conduct is pivotal to Lundbeck's approach to compliance. This helps ensure that we comply with international laws and regulations, pharmaceutical industry association standards and corporate reporting requirements. We conduct regular audits of our business against our Code of Conduct. We revise our procedures to meet changing regulation, to implement best practice or to respond to audit observations.

Marketing of pharmaceutical products is strictly regulated and we are committed to complying with these regulations. Our employees and third parties are trained to comply with all relevant laws and regulations. We have systems in place to provide fair, accurate and comprehensive information on our products.

Legal Rights

Lundbeck relies on its ability to protect its intellectual rights for new pharmaceuticals. We must also operate our business without infringing the rights of others. For pharmaceutical companies, patenting and the patent application process are extremely complex, both legally and scientifically. We take great care to develop and retain competencies in this complicated and high-risk area.

We believe that our intellectual property (IP) rights are valid and enforceable, and we defend these rights wherever they may be violated. Lundbeck is pending trials concerning infringement of our IP rights for escitalopram in Australia, Belgium, Brazil, Canada, Denmark, Greece, the Netherlands, Portugal, Saudi Arabia and Spain.

In 2012, Lundbeck received a Statement of Objections from the European Commission regarding citalopram agreements reached between 2002 and 2003 with four generic competitors. In June 2013, the European Commission decided to fine Lundbeck EUR 93 million. We strongly disagree with the decision and lodged an appeal with the General Court in September 2013. We believe the decision contains serious legal and factual errors. Lundbeck expects a decision on the appeal within two or three years, but it could take as long as six years to reach a final ruling in the case.

Financial Matters

Most of Lundbeck's commercial transactions are settled in foreign currencies. The main currency risk at the moment concerns fluctuations of the Canadian dollar (CAD), British pound (GBP) and the US dollar (USD). Lundbeck's treasury policy allows the hedging of income in these currencies for up to 12 months. Accordingly, any change in exchange rates during 2014 will only have a small impact on our financial results for that year.

Interest rate risks arise in connection with our money market fund, debt portfolio and cash holding. We reduce these risks by seeking short duration on both assets and liabilities. There are also credit risks associated with the sale of goods, our money market fund and cash holdings. To reduce these risks we avoid concentrating our credit risk and we diversify receivables from a large number of creditworthy trading partners. In addition, we only deal with banks that have an 'investment grade' credit rating.

3. Internal control

Supplementary information on Lundbeck's internal controls in the financial reporting process is available in this section.

The Board of Directors has a supervisory duty and the Executive Management the overall responsibility for Lundbeck's risk management and internal controls in relation to the financial reporting process, including compliance with relevant legislation and additional disclosure requirements pertaining to financial reporting.

The purpose of the risk management process and the internal controls is effectively to identify, manage and minimise the risk of errors in the financial reporting process and to provide reasonable assurance that material misstatement and errors in relation to the financial reporting process are avoided. Furthermore, the purpose is also to support a complex commercial business, focusing on quality, effectiveness and strong ethics in every day transactions and decisions.

The Board of Directors has set up an Audit Committee, which has an advisory role relative to the Board of Directors, including on matters such as internal controls in the financial reporting procedures, special financial and accounting issues, evaluation of financial reporting and other financial information and risk management. The Audit Committee gathers independent advice and insights from the external auditors, who are present at the meetings. External audit presents their audit strategies and findings to the Audit Committee.

Control environment

The Board of Directors approves the overall risk management policies presented by the Executive Management, including the treasury policy. These policies are incorporated in the internal control and risk management system, which comprises a clearly defined organisational structure, including roles and responsibilities. Based on this structure, Lundbeck has drawn up manuals describing the principal business procedures, internal controls, requirements on segregation of functions and duties, reconciliations, approval and authorisation as well as accounting policies. Compliance with the guidelines is verified in an ongoing process.

Lundbeck has set up a central controlling function to check the financial reporting from all group companies, including compliance with the accounting policies. Each business area has been allocated a business controlling function which reviews the validity of reported earnings and underlying activities of each business area.

Risk management

The Executive Management regularly assesses the risks that Lundbeck is exposed to, including risks related to financial reporting. In case of actual or expected changes that could affect the risks that Lundbeck is exposed to, the Executive Management will review such changes and consider appropriate mitigating actions together with the Board of Directors. At least once a year, the Audit Committee assesses whether the internal controls related to the financial reporting process are effective in relation to the risks identified.

Once a year, and as needed, the Audit Committee reviews the accounting policies and any changes thereto as well as critical estimates and judgments related to financial reporting. As part of the review, the committee discusses changes in accounting policies and the impact of critical estimates and judgments with the Executive Management. The Audit Committee reports the findings of these assessments to the Board of Directors, which approves the financial reporting process and the findings of the assessment.

Control activities

Control activities are based on the risk assessment. The objective of the control activities is to ensure compliance with strategies, policies, manuals, procedures etc. established by the Board of Directors and the Executive Management and each business area, respectively, and Lundbeck aims to prevent, detect and correct any misstatement, discrepancies and errors, etc.

A formal reporting process has been established for the Group's business areas. The process builds on a budget and estimate process as well as a monthly follow-up on realised figures, budget deviations and key figures, etc.

Requirements have been defined in respect of analyses of monthly financial data, etc. in the reporting packages that form the basis of internal and external financial statements. The business areas have established reporting procedures that are consistent with Lundbeck's reporting process and the special operational issues of each business area. Supplementary information is gathered on an ongoing basis for use in ensuring compliance with any requirements regarding notes, other disclosure requirements and operational analyses.

Based on the risk assessment, minimum requirements have been established in respect of controls, reconciliations and analyses of financial data for the Group's principal units and accounting items.

Lundbeck does not have an Internal Audit function at 31 December 2013. In November 2013 it was evaluated by the Board of Directors not to be necessary given the size and complexity of the Group as well as an assessment of the maturity of the financial control and reporting framework in place as well as other compliance initiatives within the Group. A team within Group Finance will in 2014 perform a number of financial compliance reviews throughout the organisation based on an audit plan approved by the Audit Committee. These visits will be documented in visit reports and a database to ensure that recommendations given are regularly acted upon. The visits are performed after a plan of rotation to ensure compliance with the Group's policies and procedures and to assist management by recommending ongoing improvements to existing internal controls.

Furthermore, Lundbeck has established a whistleblower system that all employees can use anonymously to contact Corporate Legal, Corporate Compliance & CSR if they experience risk of fraud or non-compliance with Lundbeck's business ethics policies. Any events are subsequently reviewed by the Executive Board and the Audit Committee, which reports to the Board of Directors.

Information and communication

Lundbeck has established information and communication systems which, among other things, set out the general financial reporting requirements and external financial reporting requirements in accordance with current legislation and applicable regulations, including International Financial Reporting Standards as adopted by the EU.

As a result of ongoing work with business procedures, internal controls and changing financial reporting regulation, Lundbeck regularly updates the contents of the systems and manuals in respect of business procedures, internal controls, and requirements on segregation of functions and duties, reconciliations, approval and authorisation and accounting policies. The manuals are accessible on Lundbeck's intranet.

Monitoring

The risk assessment and control activities are monitored in an ongoing process. The monitoring comprises formal and informal procedures. These are used by the management and the persons who have ownership of processes, risks and control procedures. The process includes a review of the financial results, which are compared to budgets and estimates. An analytical control and ongoing assessments are performed of key figures. Major weaknesses and non-compliance with internal guidelines are reported to the Executive Management, who follows up on any issues.

As part of their audit of the financial statements, the auditors elected at the general meeting report on any major weaknesses in Lundbeck's internal control and risk management system in the long-form audit report to the Board of Directors, whilst less significant weaknesses are addressed in a management letter to the Executive Management. The Board of Directors ensures that the Executive Management follows up on any outstanding issues, and the Executive Management ensures that the subsidiaries follow up on any weaknesses. Once a year, subsidiary managers and financial controllers declare that the reporting is consistent with Lundbeck's guidelines. In connection with the financial reporting process, the Executive Management makes a separate statement that the consolidated reporting is consistent with Lundbeck's guidelines and policies.

4. Management

Lundbeck has a two-tier board structure consisting of the Board of Directors and the Executive Management. The two bodies are separated, and no person serves as a member of both.

Board of Directors

The Board of Directors is responsible for approving the corporate strategy, setting goals for Executive Management, and ensuring that members of Executive Management and other senior managers have the right qualifications. The Board of Directors also evaluates management performance and management remuneration. Furthermore, the Board of Directors has the overall responsibility for ensuring that adequate internal and external controls are in place, and for identifying and addressing any relevant risks.

The Board has nine members of whom six are elected by the shareholders at the annual general meeting, and three are Lundbeck employees from Denmark elected by the Danish employees.

In March 2013, the shareholder elected the following members to the Board of Directors:

- Håkan Björklund (Chairman of the Board)
- Christian Dyvig (Deputy Chairman of the Board)
- Thorleif Krarup (Member of the Board)
- Jes Østergaard (Member of the Board)
- Melanie G. Lee (Member of the Board)
- Lars Rasmussen (Members of the Board)

In 2010, the employees elected the following members to the Board of Directors:

- Kim Rosenville Christensen (Member of the Board – employee representative)
- Mona Elisabeth Elster (Member of the Board – employee representative)
- Jørn Mayntzhusen (Member of the Board – employee representative)

Chairmanship

The Chairman with support of the Deputy Chairman ensures that the Board of Directors' tasks and responsibilities are handled in a balanced and satisfactory manner. In addition to activities related to strategic, financial and operational supervision of Executive Management, the Chairmanship carries out the role of a nomination committee.

Board Committees

The Board of Directors has set up three committees: the Audit Committee, the Remuneration Committee and the Scientific Committee. The three committees advise the Board on financial information and reporting, remuneration of Executive Management and the company's remuneration strategy, and R&D, respectively.

Executive Management

Lundbeck's Executive Management is responsible for the company's day-to-day management. This responsibility comprises the Lundbeck organization, allocation of resources, defining and implementing strategies and policies, achieving goals, and reporting information to the Board of Directors.

Lundbeck's Executive Management consists of three members appointed by the Board of Directors:

- Ulf Wiinberg (President and chief executive officer (CEO))

- Anders Götzsche (Executive vice president and chief financial officer (CFO))
- Anders Gersel Pedersen (Executive vice president and chief scientific officer (CSO))

The Corporate Management Group includes Executive Management and representatives from the various areas of the pharmaceutical value chain.

Remuneration to the Board of Directors and Executive Management

Remuneration to the Board of Directors and Executive Management is based on guidelines approved by the AGM. The guidelines are available at the corporate website. Remuneration to Lundbeck's Board of Directors and Executive Management is annually benchmarked against a group of Scandinavian and European peer companies. The Board of Directors approves remuneration to Executive Management, while remuneration to the Board of Directors is approved by the AGM.

Board of Directors

Lundbeck's Board of Directors receives a fixed remuneration and is not included in the company's bonus and incentive programs. In addition, members of the Audit, Remuneration and Scientific Committees receive a separate fee. In 2013, an ordinary member of the Board received DKK 300,000, while the Chairman and Deputy Chairman each received triple and double the basic fee, respectively. Members of the Audit, Remuneration and Scientific Committees received DKK 200,000 in 2013. The chairmen of the committees received 1.5 times this basic fee.

Executive Management

The remuneration package for Executive Management is composed to reward the achievement of ambitious short-term objectives and provides an incentive to focus on long-term goals. The package consists of a base salary, short- and long-term incentive programs and pension. The base salary is evaluated against peer companies. The short-term incentive program is an annual bonus program, which award the achievement of pre-determined targets for the preceding financial year. The CEO may receive up to nine months' base salary as a bonus payout following exceptional results. The other members of Executive Management may receive up to six months' base salary as a bonus, also on condition of exceptional results.

In addition, members of Executive Management participate in long-term incentive programs that include shares and share-based instruments, such as warrants and restricted shares. The programs are based on value generation to shareholders. Executive Management can access these shares and share-based instruments after three years, as long as pre-defined long-term strategic targets are achieved.

The pension scheme for Executive Management is a defined contribution scheme, which corresponds to the market level. On termination of employment, members of Executive Management will receive no more than two years' salary.

Diversity

Lundbeck aims for equal opportunities for men and women across the organization. Lundbeck is not obliged to prepare a policy on diversity pursuant to section 139a(1) of the Danish Companies Act as the underrepresented gender (women) at the managerial level is represented with more than 40% of employees in Denmark. Lundbeck has, however, decided to prepare this Policy on a voluntary basis to keep focus on diversity. In Denmark, 52.3% of all employees are female and 40.1% at the managerial level are female.

5. Audit Committee

The Audit Committee provides advice to the Board of Directors on internal and external controls in financial reporting procedures, special financial and accounting issues, evaluation of financial reporting and other financial information, risk management and non-GxP compliance.

The audit committee provides advice on the basis of:

- Meetings with the Corporate Management Group and internal and independent auditors
- Management's recommendation concerning accounting policies, accounting estimates, new accounting standards and significant single transactions
- Critical guidelines and policies for internal controls and financial reporting procedures
- Annual strategy, plans and review of status on financial reviews procedures performed by Group Finance
- Communication from independent auditors to the Board of Directors, including monitoring and control of auditors' independence, review of audit planning and drafting long-form audit reports
- Systematic review of the company's risk exposure

- Cases received through the whistleblower system.

In March 2013, the Board of Directors elected Thorleif Krarup as Chairman of the Audit Committee and Håkan Björklund and Lars Rasmussen as members.

The Chairman of the Board does not act as Chairman of the Audit Committee, and more than half of the members are independent.

6. Remuneration Committee

The purpose of the Remuneration Committee is to provide the Board of Directors with the best possible basis for making decisions on the remuneration provided to the members of the Executive Management and on the company's overall remuneration policy. The Committee also handles assignments related to recruitment and appointments to Lundbeck's senior management.

In March 2013, the Board of Directors elected Håkan Björklund as Chairman of the Remuneration Committee and Christian Dyvig and Lars Rasmussen as members.

More than half of the members are independent.

X			Lundbeck has established procedures for handling takeover bids. If a specific takeover bid is made, the Board of Directors will consider such a bid individually with due consideration to the Danish Companies Act and the Rules for issuers of shares of NASDAQ OMX Copenhagen A/S as well as the guidelines already discussed and adopted by the Board of Directors. In the event of a serious take-over bid, the shareholders will be given the opportunity to decide whether or not they wish to dispose of their shares in the company under the terms offered.

X			The Board of Directors analyses the company's need for capital on an ongoing basis, including an assessment of the company's capital structure from time to time. There is no universal answer to the question of what the optimum capital structure is for a specific company because the relationship between equity and interest-bearing debt relies on the specific characteristics that apply within the particular industry in which the business operates and, by extension, the operating and financial risk. X			Annually, the Board of Directors elects a deputy chairman who chairs the board meetings in the chairman’s absence. The duties of the chairman and deputy chairman are set out in a description of tasks and duties.
2.3.2. The Committee recommends ensuring that, if the board of directors, in exceptional cases, asks the chairman of the board of directors to perform special operating activities for the company, including briefly participating in the day-to-day management, a board resolution to that effect be passed to ensure that the board of directors maintains its independent, overall management and control function. Resolutions on the chairman’s participation in day-to-day management and the expected duration hereof should be published in a company announcement.	X			To ensure that the Board of Directors will maintain responsibility for the overall management and control function in case the chairman is asked to perform special tasks for the company, distribution of duties and duration of the agreements will be documented in minutes from the relevant Board of Directors meeting and disclosed in a company release.

3. Composition and organization of the board of directors
3.1. Composition
3.1.1. The Committee recommends that the board of directors annually accounts for <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • the skills it must have to best perform its tasks, • the composition of the board of directors, and • the special skills of each member. 	X			The required skills of the Board of Directors are annually assessed by the board. The specifications are posted on the company's website. Candidates nominated for the Board of Directors are described according to the recommendation in the notice convening the general meeting. A description of the Board of Directors in accordance with the recommendation is published on the company's website.
3.1.2. The Committee recommends that the selection and nomination of candidates for the board of directors be carried out through a thoroughly transparent process approved by the overall board of directors. When assessing its composition and nominating new candidates, the board of directors must take into consideration the need for integration of new talent and diversity in relation to age, international experience and gender.	X			The goal of the Board of Directors is for the individual board members to complement each other with respect to international experience and qualifications, as this is the best way to be a qualified sounding board for the Executive Management.
