

Remuneration Guidelines

Remuneration guidelines for the Board of Directors and the Executive Management of H. Lundbeck A/S

1. Introduction

In accordance with section 139 of the Danish Companies Act (Consolidated Act no. 1089 of 14 September 2015, as amended) it is a condition for entering into specific agreements on incentive programs with members of the Executive Management that the Board of Directors has set overall guidelines for incentive programs included in the remuneration of the Executive Management.

Further, recommendation no. 4.1.1 of NASDAQ Copenhagen Corporate Governance Recommendations (23 November 2017) recommends that the Board of Directors prepare a clear and transparent remuneration policy for the Board of Directors and the Executive Management. The remuneration policy is comprised within these guidelines.

In accordance with the above rules and recommendation, these remuneration guidelines will be approved by the General Meeting at least every fourth year and upon any material amendments, and the guidelines will be published on the company's website.

In preparing these guidelines, the Remuneration Committee of the Board of Directors has used external advisors.

2. Board of Directors

As an international pharmaceutical company, Lundbeck must attract competent expertise from the international business community for the Board of Directors by offering a competitive compensation. Members of the Lundbeck Board of Directors receive a fixed annual remuneration that is benchmarked to international peer companies.

The ordinary board members receive a base fee while the Chairmanship receives a multiple of this. Committee members and board members with permanent residence outside Europe receive an additional fee. Members of the Lundbeck Board of Directors do not participate in bonus or incentive programs.

Lundbeck will pay potential mandatory contributions to social security or similar taxes or duties that are imposed on Lundbeck due to the board members' membership of the Lundbeck Board of Directors.

The remuneration of the Board of Directors is reviewed on an annual basis.

3. Executive Management

The remuneration of the Executive Management members is the responsibility of the Board of Directors and shall promote actions to achieve Lundbeck's aspirations.

The Executive Management includes executives in the company listed as such with the Danish Business Authority (Erhvervsstyrelsen).

The remuneration guidelines for Executive Management members are outlined in the following.

3.1 Remuneration guideline statement

To achieve Lundbeck's vision, it is essential that the executive remuneration program rewards the Executive Management members for achieving stretched targets for both short and long-term performance.

In order to achieve this, a competitive compensation package is provided, with the opportunity to achieve significant rewards if Lundbeck provides shareholder value.

3.2 Remuneration elements

The following elements can be used in the remuneration of the Executive Management: base salary, pension, benefits, annual cash bonus (STI) and share-based instruments (LTI). Each of these will be described separately.

The components of base salary, pension and benefits are fixed, whereas the components of bonus and share-based instruments are variable. Variable compensation is considered an important key driver for value creation and medium to long-term growth in shareholder value. Therefore, a considerable part of the total compensation consists of variable compensation.

Conditions for notice of termination of service are determined individually in the contract of each of the members of the Executive Management. The general policy for severance payment to members of the Executive Management is in line with section 4.1.5 in the Corporate Governance Recommendations.

3.2.1 Base salary, pension and benefits

3.2.1 (a) Base salary

The base salary policy for Executive Management members is to position base salaries at market level. The remuneration benchmarks that are sourced consist of companies with a comparable level of Executive Management. In addition to the base salary, the company will indemnify the CEO from the increase in income taxation on investment return as well as other taxes related to the CEO's relocation to Denmark.

3.2.1 (b) Pension

The pension scheme for Executive Management is a defined contribution scheme that corresponds to the market level and includes both a savings part and an insurance coverage associated with general practice for pension schemes.

3.2.1 (c) Benefits

The members of the Executive Management are entitled to company benefits in accordance with the company policy.

3.2.2 Short-Term Incentive program (STI)

The members of the Executive Management participate in a STI program that provides an annual bonus for the achievement of predetermined targets of the preceding financial year. The CEO will have an opportunity to receive a maximum of 14 months' worth of base salary in bonus in case of exceptional performance. Other members of the Executive Management will have an opportunity to receive a maximum of 6 months' worth of base salary in bonus in case of exceptional performance.

The bonus scheme is based on group targets and individual targets. The group criteria reflect the financial parameters that the Board of Directors considers to be the most critical annual measures to enable Lundbeck to achieve its vision. All targets and bonus payments require prior approval from the Board of Directors, based on recommendations made by the Remuneration Committee.

The Board of Directors strives to be as objective as possible, however underlying conditions might change the basis for the annual bonus plan/targets. The Board of Directors has the responsibility to execute sound business judgement on evaluating the impact of these changes and as a result hereof decide on the final bonus payments.

3.2.3 Long-term Incentive program (LTI)

The Board of Directors will on an annual basis decide whether or not to establish a LTI program for the Lundbeck group for the coming calendar year. The LTI program may include both warrants, options, restricted share units and other forms of share-based instruments ("LTI Instruments").

When a LTI program is established, the members of the Executive Management may participate with an awarded value of LTI Instruments for the grant year of up to a maximum of 12 months' of base salary (at the time of grant) for the CEO and 6 months' of base salary (at the time of grant) for other members of the Executive Management. The value of the LTI Instruments, and thereby the possible maximum LTI Instruments allocation, will be calculated on the basis of Lundbeck's average share price in the first 10 banking days after publication of Lundbeck's annual report for the year prior to the calendar year where the decision to establish a LTI program is adopted by the Board of Directors. Where applicable, the valuation will be based on an option model. Any changes in the share price between the time of calculation of the LTI Instruments value and the time of grant of the LTI Instruments will not affect the possible maximum LTI Instruments allocation.

LTI Instruments granted under a LTI program will vest after three years from grant and warrants and options may upon decision of the Board of Directors be exercised during a period of up to ten years from grant. The targets for granting and/or vesting, if any, will be defined by the Board of Directors and may include financial and strategic targets of Lundbeck as well as individual targets. If none of the targets are met, none of the LTI Instruments will be granted/will vest. It is a prerequisite for Executives Management's vesting rights that their Service Agreement with Lundbeck is not under notice or terminated for any reason by any party throughout the vesting period. The Board of Directors may decide that this prerequisite shall not apply in certain "good leaver" situations.

In the case of an event that significantly changes the basis for the grants, or changes the activities and the strategies of the company, the Board of Directors reserves the right to, during the entire vesting period, reduce the number of LTI Instruments awarded to any member of the Executive Management.

The Board of Directors will seek approval separately for LTI programs that are not part of the annual LTI program.

3.2.4 LTI programs in 2019

This section 3.2.4 is a one-off exception to the general principles for LTI set out in section 3.2.3 above and shall apply to the company's grant of LTI to the Executive Management in 2019 only.

Due to changes in the terms related to vesting of the company's LTI programs both the company's 2018 LTI program and the company's 2019 LTI program will be granted in 2019. As a consequence hereof, the Executive Management may in 2019 be offered to participate in two LTI programs covering 2018 and 2019 respectively.

This means that in 2019 the members of the Executive Management may receive an awarded value of LTI Instruments of up to a maximum of 16 months' (4 months for 2018 plus 12 months for 2019) of base salary (at the time of grant) for the CEO and 12 months' (6 months for 2018 plus 6 months for 2019) of base salary (at the time of grant) for other members of the Executive Management.

Except for as stated above, the terms for the two LTI programs, including the value of the LTI Instruments and the vesting period, will be in accordance with the principles described in section 3.2.3.

3.3 Reclaim of STI and LTI

If it is ascertained that an annual bonus or benefits under the STI or LTI program were calculated and/or received based on information that subsequently proves to be misstated, and the receiving member of the Executive Management has acted in bad faith, Lundbeck shall be entitled to reclaim the bonus or benefits in full or in part.

4. Guideline for implementation

These guidelines were approved by the Annual General Meeting on 26 March 2019. The guidelines will be publicly available on Lundbeck's corporate website.

These guidelines apply to all agreements on remuneration with members of the Executive Management that may be entered into after the publication of these guidelines on Lundbeck's corporate website.

The Board of Directors can change the current and future agreements on remuneration for the Executive Management within the limits of these guidelines. Changes to the guidelines must be approved by the General Meeting.
